

Media Alert: CareerDFW Founder and President, Jeff Morris, is going to the White House

Jeff Morris, Founder and President of CareerDFW, a 501(c)3 non-profit organization, will be attending a forum for Job Clubs and Career Ministries at the White House on Thursday, September 20, 2012.

Jeff Morris has been formally invited to join U.S. Labor Secretary Hilda Solis and the White House Office of Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships at the White House Forum on Job Clubs and Career Ministries on Thursday, September 20 from 9:00am to 12:30pm. The event will be held in the Indian Treaty Room at the Eisenhower Executive Office Building of the White House in Washington, DC.

The purpose of this forum is to bring together job club and ministry leaders, workforce development officials, and faith and nonprofit leaders from across the country with representatives from the White House, Department of Labor, and other federal agencies. We will discuss the important role of job support groups in getting Americans back to work. In addition to the morning forum, we are working to put together several afternoon sessions for forum attendees with representatives from federal agency Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships Centers. So, please plan for a full day of activities.

As you may know, the Center for Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships at the U.S. Department of Labor has been working closely with job clubs, career ministries, and other job networking and support groups over the past couple years. Through their Job Clubs Initiative, they are helping these groups get started and expand their efforts, connecting job club leaders across the country, and facilitating partnerships with the workforce development system and other programs.

Joshua DuBois, Director, White House Office of Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships

CareerDFW.org is in its fourth year of continuous FREE services to the Dallas-Fort Worth area's unemployed and under-employed and continues to help countless individuals with career searches and clearer paths toward employment. Over the past 46 months, CareerDFW.org has helped individuals find employment in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and enabled many others identify a path toward dream jobs. More than 440,000 online visitors, from 50 states and more than 180 countries, have accessed the site since November 2008.

CareerDFW.org serves as a single, one-stop online repository, enabling individuals to find virtually anything and everything related to their career searches. On the website job seekers will find: calendars of events, suggested career websites, the best career documents, list of career and professional groups, a career tip-of-the-week, a FREE job board for the employer and job seeker, and more. Any career groups dedicated to providing members with career testing, coaching, counseling, education, job leads, networking opportunities, mentoring, counseling and support are welcome to be listed on www.CareerDFW.org.

CareerDFW.org collects no dues or membership fees. It is run 100% by volunteers with no full or part time staff.

CareerDFW goal is "Giving you the tools you need to land your next great opportunity.™" CareerDFW is a 501(c)3 non-profit public charity organization.

For more information about CareerDFW's history: <http://careerdfw.org/1/aboutus/152/318-history-of-careerdfw.html>

In addition, Jeff Morris has just released a new book called YOUR JOB SEARCH: What I've Learned About YOUR JOB SEARCH That You May Not Know. The book is a collection of some of the most popular and effective career tips that Jeff has collected over the past several years.

For more info contact Jeff Morris at webmaster@CareerDFW.org